Commission Approves Budget

The college organizations and activities receiving financial aid from the Associated Student Body fund this year will have their appropriations reduced by 25 per cent from last year, according to a report received from the Student Body Commission today.

The 1951-52 budget approved by the Student Body Commission on May 15, 1951, estimates the incomes from all school activities as $18,946, or a decrease of approximately 25 per cent estimated for the last school year, 1950-51.

Athletics are expected to raise 47 per cent of the estimated income for the present school year, the committee report stated. The remaining 53 per cent will be raised by other sources.

One of these sources will be the student body dues figured at 386 students at $14.00, amounting to $5,416.00. Others expected to bring a substantial income are the student store, 12 per cent; the college publications, La Reata year book and The Panther Sentinel, 8 per cent, of the estimated total income of $18,946.

The budget commission approved 61 per cent of the budget to be spent on athletic events and activities. This will include all athletic block awards, jacket, sweaters, programs, and championship meets. The N.C.J.C. conference is also included in the athletics budget.

Homecoming Day, Winter Ball, Spring Prom, and other social activities for the students this year have a budget of $396. The Associated Student Body conferences and commission expenses will be allowed $296.00 for 1951-52 school year.

The Men's Club, Upsilon Gamma Chi, W.A.A., Dramatics class, are some of the other recipients of student body aid listed in the budget. The budget balances at $18,946.00.

New Cafeteria Hours Explained

The Hartnell College cafeteria, under the management of Mrs. Freyer, has a new set of rules this year. The cafeteria is open from 7:30 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. every day. In order to get served between 7:30 and 11 a.m. you have to line up cafeteria style. Relief comes between 11 and 1:30 o'clock when you can be served at the counter. Due to the fact that there is a shortage of help those students who bring a lunch from home are required to sit on the left side of the cafeteria.

Bob Adams Elected Veep

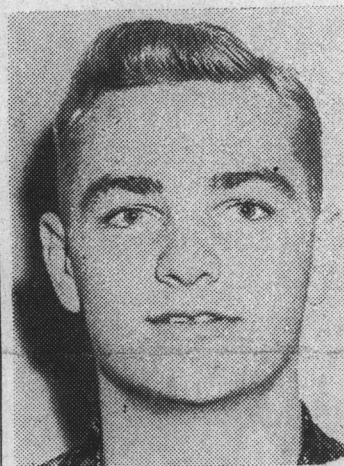

Newly-elected vice-president of the Associated Students of Hartnell College is Bob Adams of Salinas.

The commission has elected Bob to replace Bill Temple who has transferred to the University of California.

Aside from presiding at meetings in the absence of the president, vice-presidential duties consist of acting as supreme court chief justice and handling all business and correspondence in connection with the California Junior College Student Government conferences.

Bob attended local grammar and high schools. While in high school he was commissioner of public relations, on the staff of El Gabilan, the school year book, and active in basketball. Basketball is also one of the new vice-president's activities in college.

Kanaka O Hartnell Initiates at Assembly

Kanaka O Hartnell, Hartnell's Hawaiian club, held its initiation for new members today during the student assembly. The initiation for Hawaiian and mainland members was directed by Ben Capanas, newly-elected president of the organization.

The Hawaiian club initiations have been entertainment for Hartnell College students since 1949 when the club was started by the first group of islanders which came to Hartnell College.

Besides the initiation, assembly-goers were entertained by a group consisting of Bob and Fred Swan, Frank Paz, and Mervyn Ferreira who sang island songs.

At the first meeting of the club last week officers were elected. The newly-elected officers are: Ben Capanas, president; Virginia Wolf, vice-president; Jo-Ann Valine, secretary; Bob Balalioto, treasurer; and Joan Ward, Interclub Council representative.

Today at 12 noon students are invited to view movies of the islands, which the Hawaiian club is sponsoring.

Deficiency Slips Out Next Week

Friday, October 12, one week from today, will be the last day to drop classes and make up incompletes from last semester. Another sour note along that line is the fact that deficiency notices (cinch slips) will be turned into the main office that day. The notices should be at the students' homes on or about Wednesday of the following week.

It is important that students make up their incompletes from last year before October 12 or the incomplete will be changed to an "F."

Also, students who wish to drop classes should do so before the end of the first six weeks in order to receive a "WP," work passing, for their efforts.

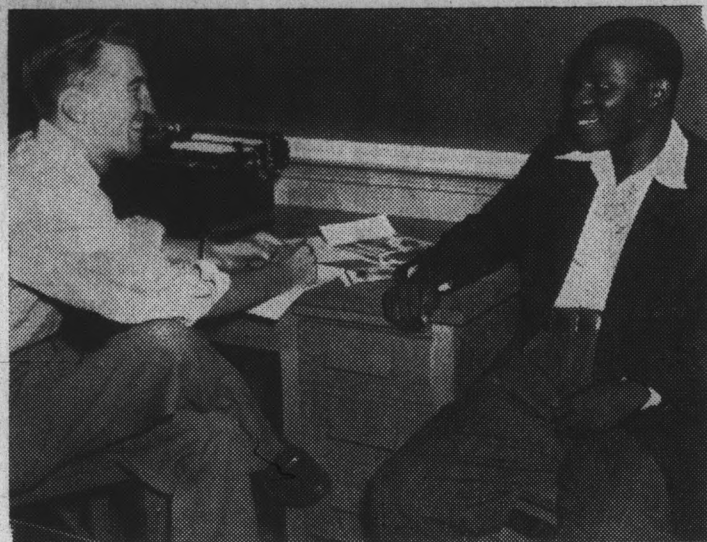

Addison Confers With Occupational Students

Students in the Occupational Division will have individual conferences with Dean Addison this fall to discuss their plans, program, progress, and to bring their school records up to date.

Special office hours have been set aside at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays for this purpose. A poster on the bulletin board near the main office will give the names of students as they are scheduled for conference. Names will be taken alphabetically, and students who cannot come at the time scheduled are to make other arrangements. Those who have special problems are urged not to wait for the scheduled interview.

The purpose of the conference is to help the student with his curricular problems, to check his school records for accuracy and completeness, to discuss his program and progress, and to better understand the student goals with regard to his future training and placement.

Salinas Climate Too Cold Says Liberian Student

By JACK ALBERT

The hot and humid climate of the colored Republic of Liberia is missed immensely by a native of that West African country near the equator. The California weather is too cold, declared Nkemka Obieze, the Liberian student who registered at Hartnell College this week to major in civil engineering.

Obieze, who already has a degree in business administration from the National University, in Dhanuala, India, said he was going to have a tough time getting accustomed to the closed doors and windows in the American buildings and trains. In Liberia, he related, the doors and windows are always open due to the extremely hot weather prevalent in that part of the continent.

Stressing the independence and democracy of his country Obieze reiterated some of its history. His forefathers, he said, were the emancipated negro slaves who left the United States in 1821 and settled in the Liberia area of Africa. They declared themselves independent in 1847, he related.

"Everybody is equal at home," Obieze asserted, "we judge the other fellow on his knowledge—not his color!"

When Obieze and five fellow students disembarked at New Orleans last week they became aware of the segregation that is evident in the South. They regretted coming to the United States, he said, and some of the boys are trying to effect a transfer to England.

Liberia which is about the size of Ohio, has few industries and inland is deeply forested. Agriculture is the principal means of livelihood, said Obieze, and is carried out with the minimum of modern implements. The products, palm kernels, piassava fiber, coffee, and sugar cane are exported mainly to the U.S.A. and Europe. In spite of the apparent lack of great prosperity in Liberia, there are numerous schools and this year 57 students from Liberia are studying in various parts of the United States. Of the 57 students Obieze said, 21 are women.

High schools and minor colleges teach French, English (the official tongue), geography, Roman and African history, and Biblical scriptures, repeated Obieze when questioned on what was taught in Liberia.

The subjects are taught by native teachers in English and French. African languages are also taught in school, he added.

Monrovia, the principal city, capital and chief port, is Obieze's home town. The Liberian government is modeled after that of the United States.

The group of five students in which Nkemka Obieze arrived in the United States was scattered all over the American continent. Some went to New York, Connecticut, Mississippi, Oregon, and Obieze to California.

"Why was California and especially Hartnell College in Salinas selected by you?" Obieze was asked by this reporter.

Obieze replied that he had a friend some years back who worked as an engineer for the Liberia Mining Company and had told Nkemka

Variety of Recordings Available in Library

Music! Music! Music! Lovers of music have found their haven in the southwest corner of the library where there is a phonograph and a record collection.

Let us now proceed to reveal the identity of some of those circular waxworks hiding behind their cardboard covers. Operatic listeners may hear Columbia's complete album of Verdi's "La Traviata" as performed by members of the Opera House of Rome, or perhaps you prefer selections from "Rigoletto" by Verdi or "La Boheme" by Puccini.

Beethoven albums are well represented with Symphonies Numbers 3, 4, 5, and 9. Beethoven's "Concerto No. 5," performed by the London Symphony Orchestra, is also available.

Of interest to piano enthusiasts is "The Heart of the Piano Concerto," as recorded by Jesus Maria Sanroma with the Victor Symphony Orchestra. Movements of eight concertos of Bach, Mozart, Beethoven, Shumann, Greig, Tschaikowsky, Rachmaninoff, and Gershwin are contained therein.

Brahms, Wagner, Khachaturian, Sibelius, and Stravinsky are among the many other composers whose works are represented in the library's collection.

A popular favorite of both "highbrows" and "lowbrows" is Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" album, featuring Lawrence Tibbett and Helen Jepson in such vocalizations as "Summertime," "I Got Plenty of Nothin'," "Bess, You Is My Woman Now," and "A Woman Is a Sometime Thing."

Not all the records are of music, though. There are several albums of dramatic presentations of such works as "Macbeth" and "The Merchant of Venice" as enacted by Orson Wells and his Mercury Theater group. There are excerpts from "Hamlet" as performed by the Shakespearean actor, Maurice Evans.

Herbert Marshall may be heard in a dramatic presentation entitled "The Snow Goose," a story of a crippled man, a girl, a bird, and Dunkerque. Victor Young has composed and conducted the music for this story by Paul Gallico.

Single records are also present in the library. Such collector's items as Caruso's "Vesta la Guibba," from "Pagliacci," and "Celeste Aida," from "Aida." There are also Galli-Curci and MacCormack selections, as well as more modern recordings.

Miss Luella Wiens, librarian, is in the process of cataloging all records and albums according to artist, composer, and type. More records have also been ordered and are expected shortly.

Ramblers, Faculty Undefeated

After completing the second week of the intramural volleyball league, only the Faculty and the Ramblers remain undefeated.

A new team has entered the league sporting the title, "The Weakest." This talented group proved to be far from the "weakest" by defeating "The Weaker Than Thats," 15-0, 15-0.

Canterbury Club Elects Officers

Ken Kane was elected to the presidency of the Canterbury Club for 1951-52 at the organization's first meeting of the year in the Home Ec living room. Freda Ledford was chosen to act as secretary-treasurer, and Dick Johnson was elected to represent the group on the Interclub Council.

Dr. B. L. Boroughs, advisor to the club, presided over the meeting and explained the aims, and

Orchestra Still Needs Musicians

"Instrumentation of the orchestra is attaining better balance as more musicians join the ranks," announced Mr. Lorell McCann, orchestra director.

The group meets daily at 8 a.m. for practice of music ranging from overtures and light opera selections to modern ballads and concert music. Sight reading is emphasized and noticeable improvement in the student's ability is soon in evidence, remarked Mr. McCann.

Membership in the orchestra is presently composed of two violins, viola, two cellos, bass, flute, oboe, two horns and two pianos. Mr. McCann urgently requests students who play string instruments and clarinets to join the musical group, even though they may only be able to attend class two or three days each week.

Now being planned for December 4 is a concert in collaboration with the Hartnell vocal department for the Friends of Music association.

annual activities of the Canterbury Club to the thirty new and old members present before the election was held. He pointed out the work of the club in sending books to the University of the Philippines and clothing to England as typifying the more serious activities of the group.

CAMPUSOLOGY

By RAJAH

The students of Mr. Louis Eris's psychology class have proclaimed the day after Thursday to be known as FREUDDAY. Leroy Viglicca wants to know if this is in honor of Kinsey (ALFRED, you know)! No, it will be a DEWEY day after that happens.

RETORT: A note was left in this reporter's binder the other day in protest to an item which appeared in this column earlier in the year. It referred to an item concerning an unknown person's comment in regard to the college football players having brains.

It read, and I quote, "Your comment was entirely false concerning Coach Wilson's hired hands. I request a public apology!"

My reply to this anonymous note sender will not quite be in the form of an apology for two reasons. First, I merely quoted an unidentified observer; and secondly, I am quite aware that our athletes are not overburdened with grey matter to slow them down. So there!

RALLY NOW: Speaking of football, Commissioner Peavy released the following report on Saturday evening's bonfire: "Beautiful fire, new fire truck, swell spirit, but NO PEOPLE!"

For cryin' out loud, let's show a little of our fire, and act like spirited college students instead of old deadwood. You might get thrown into the next fire by those yell leaders. Pleggman, Papac, and Brem might as well make some use of you for an exhibition of school spirit.

Thinking of You: This heer ain't no soshul collum, darn it, but this is a goin' in ennyhow. Mr. Harry Davidson, speech instructor, has been unable to conduct his classes since the first week of school because of a recurrence of an old back injury. In his place, Mrs. Emil Ramos has done a marvelous job, something with which all of the students will agree. Despite this, if Mr. Davidson spots this, the students are at least thinking of him.

Interested in wrestling matches, sessions with the tape recorder, or general temper tantrums by Phyllis Nutter? If so, just visit Room 9 between 8 and 1 o'clock any Tuesday or Thursday morning. No wonder this is such a scrappy paper we put out. What am I saying?

This is merely a roundabout way of getting to the point that now that our T.V. experts have put the finishing touches to the student lounge. Dear old tobacco row is being deserted without a thought. Well, this is the time to contribute any sentimentals words in memoriam to the old gathering place. This column will print any worthy lines which are received in the P.S. office.

There is no prize offered for the best memorial to the place, but maybe some philosophical alumnus will imprint it on a bronze plaque to hang in full view of all who pass the nicotine stained corner.

Mr. Harry Davidson, Hartnell speech instructor, has taken a leave of absence from his teaching while recuperating from a back injury.

Manuel Perez, former Hartnell student, is aboard the U.S.S. Nichola, D.D.E., on patrol off the coast of Korea.

Panthers Fold, Drop 26 to 21 Decision

Placer Backs Run Wild in Last Half to Edge Harts

Shades of the New York Giants! A fired-up Placer Spartan eleven came back at halftime facing a 21-0 deficit and ran circles around a bewildered Panther squad to earn a hard-fought 26-21 victory last Saturday evening.

Two thousand fans saw a rejuvenated Placer band smash via the powerful single wing formation for three scoring drives in 12 minutes of the third quarter. The winning touchdown was scored midway in the final quarter, the Spartans of Auburn capitalizing on a pass interception and costly penalties.

A last-ditch Panther rally was bogged down by the fast-charging Placer forward wall. After racking up three first downs, the Harts lost possession of the ball, knocking on the Spartan 18-yard line. The first down was missed by inches. Quarterback Jon Lardner wisely ran out the remaining time on quarterback sneaks.

The contest was very roughly played, and flareups among the gridders were frequent. Ironically, an injury sustained by tackle Ernie "Herk" Ferrario was regarded as great a loss to the team as was the game itself. The 218-pound captain was carried off the field by his teammates with a broken rib in the final quarter. Ferrario, a Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania freshman, had proved himself the best lineman with the Panthers. The big boy will be sidelined for at least three weeks—maybe longer.

Doug Mabus, Placer Junior College defensive halfback, was taken to the hospital with a head concussion. It was the third concussion Mabus has suffered in his football career. This could quite possibly be the demise of his gridiron play.

The two halves were as different as night and day. The first 30 minutes was all Hartnell—21 points worth, and the second half . . . well, the final score is indicative of its results.

HARTS START FAST

After an exchange of kicks the Harts rambled for 55 yards in seven plays to start off the scoring. Scatback Arnold Carrillo broke off guard through several would-be tacklers for 35 yards to set up the touchdown. Salinas's Don Ikeda flashed over from the 1-yard line. Marty Norman, midget defensive halfback, boated the first of a trio of conversions.

Midway in the second period, Elmer "Peachy" Valli flipped a fourth down pass to End Tom Grant good for 30 yards and a score. Norman converted.

With three minutes left in the half, a Placer desperation pass was intercepted and run back to the Spartan 35-yard marker. A holding penalty set the Harts back on the 48. On fourth down Valli decided to gamble, and went back to pass. He appeared trapped, back on his 45, but broke clear to the side, long enough to skyrocket an aerial to Grant who had streaked past Halfback Bob Sinnoch. Grant garnered in the porkhide on the 10 and raced to the goal line where a last ditch tackle knocked him over to tally. Norman just squeezed his extra point boot over by a hair.

SPARTANS ROAR BACK

A cocksure squad of Panthers came on the field to begin the third quarter unaware of what was in store for them. Placer's version of the single wing formation began to roll. Stu Smith, Greg Colt, Tommy Fallon, Nakamoto, Sinnoch and Larder proved to be six of the fastest, quick-cutting power backs seen on the Salinas turf in many a day. Head Coach Ernie Johnson, an all-coast tailback from U.C.L.A., had his men excellently trained in their running game. While the passing attack wasn't outstanding, it was potent enough to give the Panthers trouble. An optional pass or run play around end was featured, as were numerous off-tackle, trap, and reverse plays. With the third quarter only three-minutes history, the Auburnites had scored and converted. Smith went over from the 10, after Fallon had powered the ball down the field.

Valli's pass was intercepted by Sinnoch minutes later and run back to the Hart 45-yard stripe. Fallon tallied six plays later. Campbell's conversion brought the Spartans to 21-14.

A Panther fumble recovered by an alert Placer lineman placed the ball on the Hartnell 32-yard stripe. After token resistance, Lardner smashed through for six. Guard Art Foley broke through to block the conversion attempt.

Again the Hart offense failed to materialize, and Taylor Burton was sent in to kick. The pass from center was fumbled and Placer again capitalized. However, on the second play, Froley, Ferrario and Lou Bertelli rocked Nakamoto and the ball squirmed from his hands. Earl Adams, defensive end, plopped on the pigskin. A pass interception again gave the scoring chance to Placer. After driving down inside the 15 they were guilty of but-terfingers once more, Sonny Borges recovering for Hartnell. Burton weakly knicked out of the hole. Placer roared back to the 35 where they were held for three downs. However, another costly penalty was assessed on the Harts and gave the Spartans a first down on the 20. This time they completely accepted the scoring opportunity, Fallon, the outstanding Auburn athlete, doing the final damage. Norman messed up Campbell's extra-point attempt.

Harts Venture to Taft, A Rough Go Is Expected

With mouths still watering for their first taste of victory, the Hartnell gridders grapple with the Taft J.C. eleven in the Oil City tomorrow night. Kickoff is set for 8 o'clock.

This is "bounce back" week for the Harts as they will attempt to knock out the Taft aggregation. Coach Ab Wilson has had the men busy with defensive work and conditioning all week. A potentially powerful defensive team is not out of reach by any means, although this unit has not jelled as of yet; they were putty in Placer's hands the second half last week. Now that the offense has proved its capabilities, more time can be spent working with the defense.

Little is known of the San Joaquin Valley opponents. They are reported to have played two games, slaughtering Pierce J.C., and last week's results with Point McGill of Orange County have not been received. The Oilers were scheduled to play a strong Santa Maria J.C. team, but the game was cancelled. Taft has been known to produce powerhouses; just two years ago they won a California championship.

Last year's Panthers had absolutely no trouble with them whatsoever, frolicking to a 32-13 victory. However the Oilers couldn't do a thing right and the Harts enjoyed one of the best games of the season.

TAFT HAS GREAT PASSER

Taft has only a few veterans from last year's squad. But one of them, Roy Ottison, is rated as one of the finest passers in California junior college circles. Ottison, a six-foot four-inch quarterback, can throw the pigskin a country mile and his pin-point firing will be an offensive threat to watch. The line is said to be smaller but very fast, faster than last year's, and they

Anselmo Cops Golf Trophy

Mr. Vincent Anselmo, Hartnell College instructor, and golf enthusiast, won the first flight section of the Salinas City Golf Tournament. He was awarded a trophy after emerging victorious in four straight matches. The tournament took place from August 19 to September 2, and many golfers completed.

Among the more talented was Bob Jefferson who proved his golfing talents by winning the second flight section of the same tournament. A trophy was awarded to Bob for his outstanding play.

League Squads Drop Contests

Two powerhouse football machines—Stockton and Santa Rosa, battled to a scoreless tie last Friday night at Bailey Field, Santa were extremely fast last season.

Three men will be out for this nonleague game: Ernie Ferrario, Bob Heintzen and Bud Stubbs. Heintzen and Stubbs were out of the Placer J.C. tilt. Ferrario's absence will be sorely felt. Aside from these three, all Panthers will be ready to go, although some men are pretty badly bruised up.
